IT INSIGHT COLUMN CELEBRATES TEN YEARS

HOUSTON, TEXAS. The IT Insight column completes its tenth year of publication with the December 2010 edition of EM magazine (www.awma.org). Written by Lexicon Systems, LLC founder, President and CEO Jill Barson Gilbert, QEP, the bimonthly articles aim to educate environmental managers on information technology issues.

“With technology changing continuously, it is hard to run out of topics... though writing about new technology definitely requires ongoing research and knowledge of what’s happening in the market,” says Gilbert. “In the past ten years we have seen significant changes in how environment, health & safety professionals use technology day-to-day... think about the types of hardware, software and tools used ten years ago, versus what we take for granted today.”

The complete IT Insight archive is available at www.lexicon-systems.com/itinsight.html.
